Free and open to the community.
100 Years of Song at Temple Sinai

Shalom! Most of you are familiar with Temple Sinai’s Rabbinic leadership over the years, but many of you are less familiar with its glorious musical heritage. It began with a cantorial soloist and professional quartet accompanied by pipe organ. This musical style reflected the classical Reform style of the time. This style is referred to as “high church,” and consists of choral music written for four parts and Protestant-style hymns. In fact, the Reform movement even had a Union Hymnal which contained all of the hymns that were sung during services to accompany the Union Prayer Book.

In 1948 the Temple hired Cantor Moshe Rudinow to lead High Holy Day services. Cantor Rudinow was a noted retired cantor from Temple Emanuel in New York City who had recently moved to Oakland with his family. His daughter Naomi Cohen is still a member to this day.

In 1958 the Temple hired its first full time ordained Cantor, Sheldon Merel, who served with Rabbi Stern and Rabbi Broude from 1958 until 1969. Cantor Merel sang in the Reform classical style with professional quartet and organ. The professional choir sang from the organ loft with organist William Stone, later followed by organist Eugene Gash. Cantor Merel, along with Rabbi Broude, established the Fine Arts Foundation of Temple Sinai and brought the Oakland Chamber Chorus and the Oakland Symphony Orchestra to the Temple.

Cantor David Unterman succeeded Cantor Merel and served with Rabbi Broude for eleven years during which time the style of the music moved to a more folk style, and the professional choir was retired. Cantor Unterman was followed by Cantor Bruce Benson who came in 1982 and, in 1986, wrote and recorded The Jazz Service with the famous Jazz musician (and fellow member of the tribe) Kenny G. Needless to say, the musical style of Temple Sinai was changing and becoming more modern and contemporary. Cantor Benson introduced guitar into the worship service and composed his own liturgical music with a pop and rock sound.

By the time Rabbi Chester came to Temple Sinai, Cantor Steven Puzarne was leading the congregation in creative and innovative services with guitar. In 1991 Cantor Nancy Kassel was hired and became Temple Sinai’s first female cantor. Cantor Kassel created a thriving Adult Choir and Junior Choir, which I inherited when I came to Temple Sinai in 1995. Our current organist and choir director George Anton Emblom started with me, and together we have served Temple Sinai for the past nineteen years.

Through our tenure here, George and I have tried to create an innovative and spiritual worship experience which speaks to the myriad of musical styles that have been part of the canon of synagogue music over the past 100 years. Through our joint projects with our Adult choirs, both from the synagogue and the church, we have stretched the musical offerings here to include music from other religions and cultures.

Over the past nineteen years together, George and I have been fortunate to bring to Temple Sinai Jazz, Klezmer, Hip Hop, Gospel, Rock, Bossa Nova, Pop, Broadway, Hassidic, Israeli, Folk, Yiddish, Ladino, Sephardic, Italian Renaissance, Middle Eastern, Classical Reform, Traditional, Cantorial, Contemporary, and Modern styles of liturgical music. As Reform Jews, our tradition continues to evolve and grow, thriving on diversity and enriching our musical repertoire. Join us on Friday, March 14, 2014 at 7:30pm in the Sanctuary for 100 Years of Song! A Centennial Shabbat Celebration where we will hear a sampling of these worship styles offered by our Adult Choir to celebrate our Sanctuary’s 100 Year Anniversary! You will be thrilled by the amount of both old and new melodies that you recognize and enjoy!

SHABBAT MINYAN
Second Shabbat morning of each month, at 10:30 am in the Albers Chapel
The Shabbat Minyan is an exuberant and joyful lay-led service. This highly participatory celebration combines traditional elements with professionally led modern music. Our strong sense of community is enhanced by the potluck kiddush that follows the service. Volunteers (for chanting, readings, etc.) can contact Dan Fendel (dfendel@sfsu.edu).

TUESDAY MORNING LEARNER'S MINYAN
Every Tuesday morning from 7:30am – 8:00am
Do you wonder why we read the prayers we do, where they come from, what order they come in, or how they are chanted? Do you crave an understanding of the meaning (both literal and mystical) of Jewish prayers? Join us, along with Rabbi Straus and lay leaders, as we explore the prayers and learn the traditional davening (prayer) style.

SHABBAT MORNING TORAH STUDY
Every Shabbat Morning from 9:00am – 10:15am
We study Torah together. Become part of the group that joins Rabbi Straus or Rabbi Mates-Muchin in a stimulating discussion, as we work our way slowly, about a chapter per week, through Torah. We are now in the book of Exodus. The session closes with a prepared drash by a volunteer congregant on the portion of the week. Bagels and coffee are served and the discussions end in time for the 10:30am Shabbat Morning Service.

Making A Legacy Gift To Temple Sinai
In one way or another, we've all experienced the warmth and support of Temple Sinai. Today Temple Sinai is at the heart of Jewish life in the East Bay, but once we are gone who will keep these traditions thriving for future generations? Who will make sure that our children and grandchildren have the opportunity to experience Jewish culture, values and education?

In its long history, Temple Sinai has never relied solely on membership contributions to meet its commitment to the Jewish community and to the congregation. Now and in the future we depend on the support of congregants who understand the need to give at a level above and beyond their membership contributions. For many of you, a legacy gift is an attractive way to increase your support and ensure the vitality of Temple Sinai beyond your lifetime.

Whether it is through your will or another estate planning vehicle, a legacy gift to Temple Sinai can be designed to match your personal circumstances. Those of us leading the legacy giving initiative are ready to meet with you and your family to discuss your needs and concerns and your options for making a legacy gift. Please take a moment to contact congregant Geoff Piller at gpiller@beesontayer.com to schedule a time to meet to discuss a legacy gift or bequest.

Thank you to the following congregants who have included Temple Sinai in their estate plans:

WHO SPEAKS FOR THE AMERICAN JEWISH COMMUNITY?
Thursday, March 20, 7:30pm
Temple Sinai is honored to host a dialogue between Jeremy Ben-Ami, Founder and President of J Street, and Dr. Marc Dollinger, Richard and Rhoda Goldman Chair in Jewish Studies and Social Responsibility at San Francisco State University.

J Street was founded by Jeremy Ben-Ami in 2008. It now claims more than 177,000 online supporters, 5,000 active students, and 650 National Rabbinic Cabinet Leaders. J Street’s website asserts “J Street is the political home for pro-Israel, pro-peace Americans fighting for the future of Israel as the democratic homeland of the Jewish people. We believe that Israel’s Jewish and democratic character depend on a two-state solution, resulting in a Palestinian state living alongside Israel in peace and security. Rooted in our commitment to Jewish and democratic values, J Street is redefining what it means to be pro-Israel in America. We are changing the U.S. political dynamics around Israel by mobilizing broad support for a two-state solution because it’s in Israel’s and America’s interest. And we are expanding support for Israel by affirming – along with many Israelis – that being pro-Israel doesn’t require supporting every policy of its government.”

Now you can determine J Street’s role for yourself. Join us in conversation with Jeremy Ben-Ami, the founder and President of J Street. Ben-Ami brings to the role both deep experience in American politics and government and a passionate commitment to the state of Israel. Leading historian Dr. Marc Dollinger will join the conversation with Jeremy Ben-Ami and help place J Street within the context of American Jewish support for Israel. Please join us for this lively thought-provoking conversation.

Purim Traditions

Purim is a joyous holiday commemorating the rescue of the Jews of Persia by Queen Esther and her uncle Mordecai from the evil Haman. The story is read aloud and when Haman is mentioned in the Megillah (scroll) of Esther, people scream and turn noisemakers called “groggers” to drown out his name. Traditions include parties, dances, putting on plays (spiels), mishloach manot (gift-giving), and eating Hamentaschen (three-cornered, fruit-filled pastries).

An oft-repeated Jewish saying is that the theme of many Jewish holidays is: “They tried to kill us. We survived. Now let’s eat!” While 15th century Italian Jews celebrated Purim with donut-like confections called Haman’s Ears or Orecchi di Aman, Israelis similarly refer to the familiar, triangular, filled Purim cookie as ‘ears’ or Oznei Haman. Slightly more appetizing, and decidedly less cannibalistic, is to say that we eat Hamentaschen or Haman’s Hats to remind us that Haman wanted the good Jewish citizenry of Shushan to either bow down to him or be done away with.

Even more tasty than baking Hamentaschen and discovering (or creating) filling options is the mitzvah of Mishloach Manot – or ‘giving portions’. Fill a small basket with freshly baked Hamentaschen to give to friends, family and neighbors. Take the sharing one step further with a donation of groceries to a food bank in honor of Purim.

More ideas for Purim customs, costumes and activities can be found at www.reformjudaism.org/jewish-holidays/purim. Please see a list of Temple Sinai Purim events on the back cover.
Centennial Spotlight 1975 - 1985

The Fine Arts events begun by the Broudes and Cantor Merel continued. They included a presentation of Ernest Bloch’s “Sacred Service,” a full Friday evening service. There was also an annual Festival of Jewish Music, which drew a wide range of performers.

After 20 years as Executive Director, Morris Henerson retired. For several years after his departure, there were a series of Directors.

Marilyn Teplow was elected President of the Temple in 1976. She was the first woman to serve as our leader.

In Rabbi Stern’s memory, the temple created the Stern Lecture series. Between 1975 and 1985 our guest speakers included Rabbis Alexander Schindler, Albert Vorspan, and Arthur Lelyveld.

The first Scholar in Residence weekend took place in 1983. Our first speaker was Rabbi W. Gunther Plaut. Several years later, the Stern Lecture and Scholar in Residence events were merged.

In 1980, Cantor David Unterman left Temple Sinai after several years. The following year the Temple hired a young Rabbi, Michael Oblath, to assist Rabbi Broude. In 1981 Bruce Benson became the synagogue’s new cantor.

In May 1983 the first group of Adult B’not Mitzvah students celebrated their “adulthood.”

Following Civil Rights and Vietnam, the most important general issue in the community was the status and fate of Jews in the Soviet Union. Temple Sinai also assisted a number of immigrants from Vietnam and other parts of SouthEast Asia.

WTS SHABBAT

Women of Temple Sinai brought tears and laughter to the bima and beyond with their original service, “Reflections and Visions” on February 28th. Multi-generations of presenters symbolized the form and spirit of “Idor vador” from opening prayer to a communal benediction.

Events like this don’t just happen. They require planning, supplemented by many hands and hearts. Special thanks to Laurie Earp, her committee and all those who participated as presenters, ushers, and Oneg contributors.

The collective voice and presence of women in Temple Sinai’s life, Women of Temple Sinai support youth, perform Tikkun Olam, and create fellowship among their members. They provide funding for Torah repairs, B’nai Mitzvah Kiddush cups, Confirmation bibles, as well as Rabbinic and Cantorial scholarships.

The Next 100 Years of Social Action

Wednesday, March 12, 7:30pm
Temple Sinai’s 100 year history of Social Action was featured at the January 17 Shabbat service. The Social Action Committee is continuing this tradition of education: informing congregants about social justice issues; advocacy: taking positions and supporting social change, and action: hands-on activities to improve our community. To help shape the agenda for the committee and the congregation, join the Social Action Committee. The next meeting is Wednesday, March 12 at 7:30pm. If you would like to be on the Social Action email list, please contact Allynce Kimerling allycek@hotmail.com or Helen Smiler hsmiler@aol.com.

Greenleaf School Updates

Food Drive
Because many children at Greenleaf, one of our Literacy Project partner schools, do not get breakfast or lunch at school during the Oakland Schools spring break, we are again partnering with the Islamic Center to collect non-perishable food to send home with the students. There will be barrels at the Temple from the middle through the end of March.

We welcome: bags of rice, cans of vegetables (mixed, green beans, corn, bags of beans (Portuguese and pinto), cans of fruit/fruit cups, boxes of cereal, packages of dried pasta, cans of soup and tomato sauce, tuna, packages of tostaditas (no tortillas or anything perishable), juice boxes or cans (small), baby food (no jars), packaged dried nuts or trail mix, peanut butter/jelly (no glass jars), dried fruit (in packages)

Books Needed: People of the Book Literacy Project
Two of our partner schools, Sankofa Academy and Greenleaf School, teach K-7th grade this year and will become K-8 schools next year.

We need good books for both schools, both fiction and nonfiction, and hardbound as well as paperback. Graphic novels, good fiction (“Shiver” “Liar and Spy”) and books by authors such as Horowitz, Gidwitz, Carson, Meyer, Mull and Kinney are all appreciated – in excellent condition only please! Quality nonfiction for young adults is also needed and can be dropped in our book bin. Book bin is located in the Temple foyer. Please contact at Jean Stein 654-2672 or readerjz@aol.com.

Thank You!
The Adopt-a-Family Program at Greenleaf Elementary School, in coordination with Temple Sinai’s People of the Book Literacy Project, was a huge success!

Thanks to 56 families, 123 Greenleaf children received toys, books and clothing for the holidays.

Temple Sinai Congregants provided 85 bags of food which fed families over the winter break. One of our congregants raised approximately $3,000 in Gift Cards for Greenleaf families. These funds are used for clothing and food for families throughout the year. Montclair Sports donated 30 pair of new shoes for adults and several pair for children. Two congregants donated a variety of stuffed animals. A “stuffie” went home in every gift bag. Donations of colorful holiday gift bags were new this year.

We are very grateful to Rodolfo Perez, Greenleaf Outreach Coordinator, for seamless work in matching families. Thank you, Rodolfo, for giving our community the opportunity to serve yours.

Check for more information on the Temple’s website and we hope you will participate again next year!

What are the revered Rebbe’s roles? What is the Army of God? Why do Chasidism proselytize, and how are their campaigns seen? You will understand the significance of the Yiddish word, Ufuratza, spreading forth, in this context, and so much more. Ken Blady is currently a lecturer in Jewish history at the American Jewish University Whizin Center as well as several Bay Area institutions. He is the author of several books including Jewish Communities in Exotic Places.

Have you ever said, or heard someone say, “Oh my God” or “For God’s sakes” or “What kind of God would let this happen?” Have you ever felt your knees knock when someone asked if you believe in God? Has it been a really long time since you entered into a conversation about God and faith? Whether or not you answered yes or no to these questions, this session is for you. Bring your doubts, questions and affirmations, and join us as we bravely tackle one of those topics that most people will do almost anything to avoid, and take a developmental lens to the whole concept of faith development. Vicky Kelman, currently an independent consultant focusing on Jewish Family Education, worked for 15 years as the Director of the Jewish Family Education Project at the Bureau of Jewish Education. She pioneered new initiatives in family education, was a founding member of the Consortium for the Jewish Family and won the prestigious Covenant Award in 2003.

Mazel Tov to Temple Sinai Preschool Teacher Rachel Fenyves!

In addition to teaching two year olds in our preschool, Rachel has been working as the Education Department’s Jewish Resource Specialist and has been accepted into JECCLI (Jewish Early Childhood Education Leadership Institute). This is a national, competitive program that brings together directors new to their positions and teachers who are in leadership positions in their schools. Over the next 15 months, Rachel will have the opportunity to study with professors from Hebrew Union College, the Jewish Theological Seminary and Bank Street in New York and be mentored by a veteran early childhood educator in the field. It is a wonderful honor and exciting opportunity for her.

EREV SHABBAT FAMILY SERVICE HONORING TEMPLE SINAI TEACHERS
Friday, April 4, 6:30pm
Think about the teachers in your life and how they’ve shaped who you are: the preschool teacher who provided you with an outlet for growthful play while creating a daily container of comfort, the grade school or high school teacher who challenged you with a great project or helped you understand a big idea or just saw you for who you are, the adult teachers who have inspired you with words of text or taught you new skills or opened your mind to new ideas. We are so blessed to have all of those kinds of teachers here at Temple Sinai and it’s time to celebrate them. If you have a teacher at Temple Sinai or have ever had a teacher at Temple Sinai, come honor, celebrate and bless them at this special Shabbat service. We’ll especially honor Sacha Kopin for 13 years of service to our community as a teacher and tutor. Bring your love and a sweet treat to celebrate.
